In New Orleans today, there towers a great monument. It is not the masterpiece of some eminent sculptor, nor a mass of stone perpetuating the name of a great statesman, but it is an institution dedicated to the most supreme work of charity--alleviation of suffering and healing of the sick. This structure is the Charity Hospital of Louisiana, founded by the sailor, Jean Louis, in 1736.

Despite many periods of strife and shortage of funds since its establishment, Charity Hospital has grown into the largest medical center in the South and one of the most outstanding medical and teaching institutions of this country.

In 1894, a dream became a reality. Through the energy and non-relenting efforts of Sister Agnes and William G. Vincent, then Vice-President of the Board of Administrators of Charity Hospital, the Charity Hospital Training School for Nurses was permanently organized and in operation.

The school's past record of growth and progress may be considered admirable. At the present time, Charity Hospital School of Nursing trains approximately one-third of all registered nurses in the state of Louisiana. Plans are now being made for the $5.4 million addition of two buildings and the renovation of the existing building of the School of Nursing. These new structures will house classrooms, laboratories, student lockers, and showers, an auditorium, gymnasium and swimming pool. If the past and present are any indication, the future will be one of even greater expansion and achievement.

CHSN ADMINISTRATORS GOVERN C.H.S.N.

Governor John J. McKeithen

Ex-Officio Chairman of the Charity Hospital Board of Administrators

The Honorable John J. McKeithen, Governor of the State of Louisiana, is responsible for the Division of Administration which has direct jurisdiction over Charity Hospital. The Governor, in the capacity of Ex-officio Chairman of the Charity Hospital Board of Administrators, appoints the members to the board.

Charity Hospital Administrators: SEATED: Richard Hughes, M.D., Board Member; Gilbert Tomskey, M.D., Board Member; Louis Burroughs, M.D., Hospital Director and Board Member; Don Peterson, D.D.S., Board Member; Mr. Carl Smith, Jr., Board Member; Mrs. Mary Connolly, Board Member; Mr. A. N. Simmons, Jr., Board Member. STANDING: Mr. Rudolph Weinmann, Hospital Attorney; Mr. Frederick Eagan, Louisiana Senator; Thomas Conklin, M.D., Hospital Assistant Director; Maurice Weilbaecher, M.D., Board Member; Mr. Edward Bopp, Board Member; John Kron, M.D., Board Member; Mr. Ingard Johannesen, Hospital Attorney; Mr. Weldon Talley, Hospital Treasurer; Mrs. Janet Aubert, Board Secretary. Board Members not pictured: Allen Copping, M.D.; Allen Ellender, Jr., M.D.; Mr. William Guste, Jr.; Mr. Harold Haydel; Daniel McIntyre, M.D.; Mr. Louis Thomas, Jr. Associate Directors not pictured: Charles Mary, Jr., M.D.; John Adriani, M.D.; Mr. A. P. Richard.

Ultimate responsibility for the School of Nursing and its educational program is vested in the Board of Administrators who are appointed by the governor. The board assumes legal authority for the school, determines general policy, appropriates sufficient funds, encourages accreditation efforts, and considers recommendations submitted by the director and the faculty.

Dr. Louis Burroughs, Director of Charity Hospital, maintains direct communication with the Director of the School of Nursing and represents to the Charity Hospital Board of Administrators the interests of the school.

WE DEDICATE THE 1968 CAPS AND CAPE TO MISS JULIA SPRATT

Being an inspiration to students is not easy. The recipe calls for a combination of interest, personality, character, and knowledge. To this, add a warm smile, a friendly "hello," and a sincere interest in each student as an individual. Stir in experience as sociology instructor and mix well with various types of "excitement" in the Emergency Room. Top with the ability to handle the Senior Class' sometimes heated discussions. The finished product? Miss Julia Spratt.

In appreciation for all that you have done for us and for our school, we dedicate this edition of Caps and Capes to you, Miss Spratt.

FACULTY

In order to accommodate the ever increasing student body, provisions are being made for continued faculty expansion. This is necessary because each instructor must reach the individual student and impart to that student every aspect of nursing. The faculty at Charity Hospital School of Nursing now has 63 members, compared to a mere 10 in 1938 and 13 in 1944.

Sister Blanche, Director Charity Hospital School of Nursing

Since Sister Blanche assumed Directorship in February, 1963, our school has moved onward with increased enrollment, improved facilities, richer experiences, additional faculty and staff. Sometimes referred to as a "most persuasive lady," she is pictured below reviewing the blue-prints of two additional school buildings which are planned to be completed in 1971.

Irma Cavalier, Student Body President, looks on as Sister Blanche announces students cited by the faculty for outstanding achievement.

Classes

Changes in nursing trends have attracted an increased number of interested girls to this school and to the nursing profession. In 1968, 114 students are expected to graduate. This will be the largest single class to graduate since the establishment of the school. The student body is composed of a record 360 students, making the school's present enrollment the largest in the state.

DEPARTMENTS

In order to assure each student the opportunity to participate in all types of patient care, Charity Hospital School of Nursing divides its courses into departments. The student acquires skill, experience and knowledge in subjects ranging from the basic sciences and Fundamentals of Nursing to Intensive Care and Neurosurgery.

In each department, instructors work under the supervision of their head instructor. Theory is taught in formal class, while discussion of problems and approaches is the central theme of conferences. Students learn technical skills and perform patient care in Nursing Experience, held in all areas of Charity Hospital.

New, up-to-date equipment is constantly being added throughout the hospital to keep up with the progress of modern medicine. The operating rooms, for example, are equipped to handle almost any type of surgery, perhaps even heart transplants in the future. Plans for the renovation of many areas of the hospital are now being made.

Step 1: Conduct Experiment. Step 2: Treat burned fingers.

Through use of the microscope, students study protozoan bacterial and other parasites of man.

Miss Walker's at it again.

SCIENCE PROVIDES ANSWERS FOR CURIOUS MINDS

The sciences presented in the freshman year serve as a foundation for more advanced courses and provide a scientific basis for the practice of the profession of nursing. These sciences include Nutrition, Chemistry, Microbiology, Anatomy, Physiology, and Pharmacology.

Students learn the anatomical structure of bones and the origin and insertion of muscles by studying the human skeleton in anatomy lab.

Bernadette Prevot studies nutrition tips for health.

Annie Lofton goes through the motion of giving a bed bath to a fellow classmate while Mrs. Gyer watches carefully to give suggestions.

FUNDAMENTALS OF NURSING . . . FOUNDATION FOR SUBSEQUENT NURSING COURSES

Miss Pitre demonstrates how the nurse meets the exercise needs of her patients.

This course assists the beginning student to gain knowledge of the basic needs common to most patients and to practice those skills and measures necessary to meet those needs.

Preparing medications for an injection one of those BASIC, BASIC skills that must be learned!

Weighing the patient is one of the nurse's responsibilities in admitting a new patient.

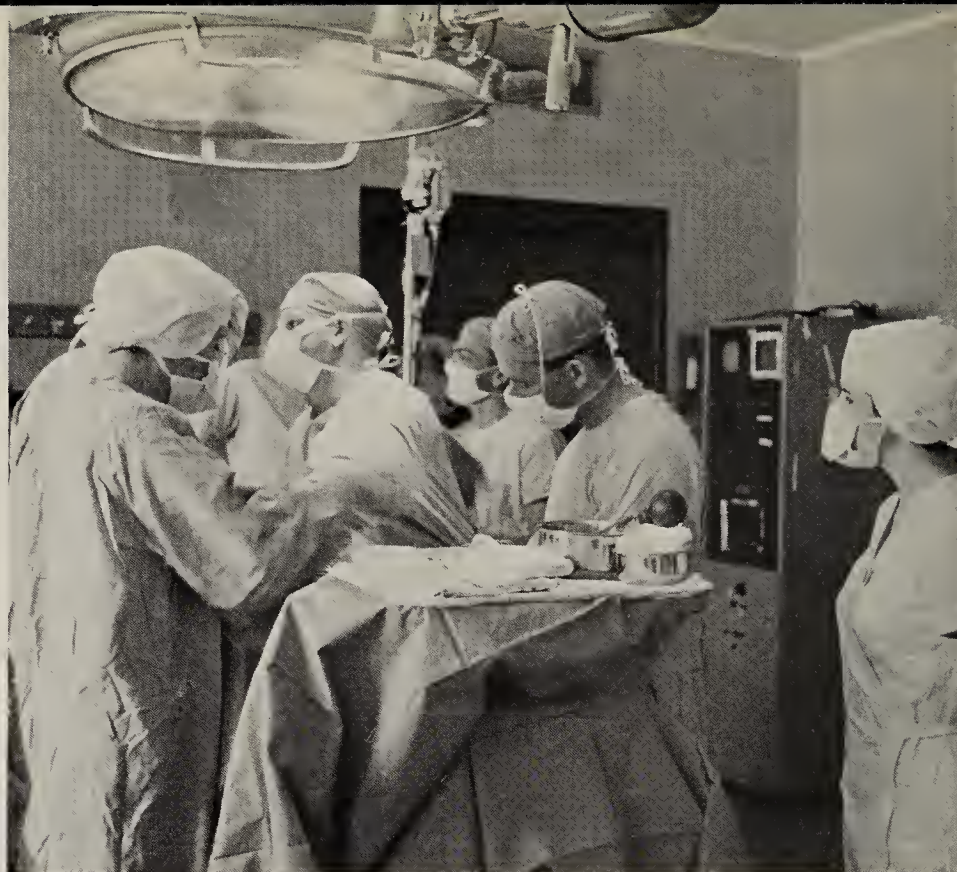

Fundamental students triple check blood pressure accuracy in practice session before going to nursing experience in the hospital

NURSING OF ADULTS

The Junior Nurse studies Medical and Surgical Nursing through a sequence of courses. These courses provide foundational concepts of normal adult development, the body's reaction to illness and foster perception of patient needs, nursing experience in the general medical and surgical wards and in the operating and recovery rooms.

Nursing is emphasized throughout, and attention is focused on common health problems. The Health Problem approach lends itself to the integration of pharmacology, diet therapy and public health aspects, and an understanding of the underlying pathophysiology, thereby enabling the student to render skilled intelligent care.

The Senior Nurse studies Nursing in courses which deal with health problems usually termed "Medical-Surgical Specialties"; and with the various intermediate phases of acute illness, convalescent, long-term and out-patient Nursing.

Five weeks are spent in our many operating rooms where approximately 70 operations are performed daily.

Students in orthopedic nursing give "a lift" to a patient who has a fractured leg.

Nancy McFerran is suctioning a patient in the Recovery Room immediately after surgery.

Team nursing emphasizes working together to give individual patient care.

MEDICAL SURGICAL NURSING

Junior students offer assurance and provide physical comfort for the patient who has undergone recent surgery.

Neurosurgical nursing offers a rich experience for the senior student in caring for patients with spinal injuries.

Nursing experience in the New Intensive Care Unit offers a challenge to the senior nursing student.

. . . OF THE ADULT PATIENT

Tracheotomy care is performed by these students in order to facilitate breathing for the patient.

NURSING ON AN OUT-PATIENT BASIS

This course is designed to help the nursing student learn the basic foundation of out-patient nursing and to make her functional in emergency situations, prevention of illness, promotion of maternal and child health, nutrition, and the continuity of individual care for the eventual benefit of all the people in the community.

Pierre Pelican and friends invite "Mothers-to-be" to classes in Maternity Clinic.

Lana Collins takes the pulse of an asthmatic patient in the emergency room.

Senior students plot out the shortest route to home visit patients.

MATERNITY NURSING . . . A FAMILY AFFAIR

"God could not be everywhere, so he created mothers."

Dr. Joseph Lee

The course in MATERNITY AND NEWBORN NURSING provides the student nurse with an opportunity to share in the experience of childbirth with mothers and their families. The student assists the prospective mother by instructing her prenatally, by providing physical care and emotional support during labor and delivery, and by teaching the new mother about her care and that of her new baby in the postpartal period. The student learns to apply and adapt nursing principles to premature and term babies, learning related social and health concepts.

New mothers learn to give their babies the best care, as demonstrated by Linda Murley.

The premature infant, unfinished yet perfect, is gently suctioned in the Isolette by Judy LaFleur.

Kathy Norris shares a mother's happiness and pride in her newborn baby.

NURSING OF CHILDREN OFFERS "TENDER LOVING CARE"

In nursing children here at Charity, the student learns to convey warmth and feeling for them. She sees the child as he is, a product of his home environment, but still a child with the same needs, reactions, and developmental tasks as children everywhere. She gains a comprehensive picture of his growth and development, care and health problems in the infant and juvenile areas. She sees children at all levels of development in the Communicable Disease Area.

"But I just had a bath yesterday!"

Large doses of love and attention are a necessary part of the nursing of children.

Students improvise an exercise sling so that this small patient may fully recover.

Students plan and participate in exercises with their patients in the gym on third floor.

Flower children are everywhere - Patty Franzen and her patient look on while the therapist demonstrates the latest in psychedelic art.

The course in Psychiatric Nursing prepares the student to give nursing care to psychiatric patients, and to develop an understanding of the application of psychiatric concepts to general nursing practice.

During the course the student develops a therapeutic nurse-patient relationship with a selected patient who is hospitalized with a psychiatric disorder. Emphasis is placed on the student's refining existing communication skills and techniques. Students work with small groups of patients on the ward, and organize various ward activities including games, record-hops, square dancing, and singing as a means of encouraging socialization. A day is spent in Occupational Therapy and Recreational Therapy by each student so that she can appreciate the roles of the adjunctive therapists. One day in the psychiatric clinic provides the student with an opportunity to observe the patient-psychiatrist interview, to observe patients receiving after-care, and to discuss after-care with the psychiatrist. A planned field trip is made to the New Orleans Regional Mental Health Center to enable the student to see one community facility in operation.

Joan Beauchea and Pam Judy, R.N., discuss the importance of drug therapy in psychiatry.

HELP THROUGH UNDERSTANDING IN PSYCHIATRIC NURSING

Communication through music, the universal language, may be effective when other forms of communication fail.

We want you to consider this as your group ... now this is what we're going to do today.

WE STRIVE FOR BETTER STUDENT CONDITIONS

The purposes of Student Personnel Services is to work toward obtaining optimum conditions in all phases of student life. Membership is composed of the following representatives from all subcommittees of Student Personnel Services: Assistant Director, Head Counselor, Counselors, Faculty Advisor to Student Council, Health Nurse, Residence Supervisor, Social Director and Financial Aid Officer.

Members of the counseling department are available for individual personal, academic, and vocational counseling.

Mrs. Burvant's day is filled nursing student ills ranging from tooth aches to sprained ankles.

Mrs. Owens, our Resident Supervisor who is in charge of all phases of dormitory living, looks on as students sign overnight cards.

Mrs. Carol Monahan, the financial aid officer, assists students in obtaining loans, scholarships and grants.

Finding an open date for an upcoming social event can often be difficult.

ORGANIZATIONS

Extracurricular activities provide much-needed diversional therapy from the long hours of class, experience, and studying. Students enjoy them, but they also learn while they are having fun.

Organizations such as the Athletic Club, Choral Club, Caps and Capes, the White Cap, and various religious groups had their beginning many years ago. Today, there are many organizations which appeal to all students. Growth of professional organizations, such as CHASN, has been due to the increasing student interest in nursing as a profession and interest in planning ways of improving the standards of nursing.

CHASN HELPS PRODUCE PROFESSIONAL NURSES

Popcorn sales was one of the money raising projects of CHASN to send delegates to the National Convention held in Dallas in May, 1968.

Charity had the largest delegation to the 1967 LASN Convention held in Baton Rouge, La.

Charity Hospital Association of Student Nurses is designed to aid in the preparation of student nurses for the assumption of professional responsibilities. This year the club sent 40 delegates to the LASN Convention in Baton Rouge, conducted a rummage sale, sponsored several guest speakers and sent representatives to the National Student Nurses Convention in Dallas. At the National Convention, Pat Carrerras, a CHASN member, ran for a national office.

CHASN Rummage sales proved profitable.

Inter-club Council is composed of presidents of all classes and extracurricular organizations and their sponsors. The purpose of the club is to plan and evaluate student activities and to provide communication among the various clubs. Accomplishments this year included making the yearly social budget, giving suggestions to club presidents for improving their club's activities, revising the stunt night ballot and rules, deciding on stunt night prizes, setting the place for annual picnic and revising awards given at Awards Night.

SIGMA ALPHA PARTICIPATES IN RECRUITMENT

Becky Rodrigue and Billie Bannister examine the school's new visual aid for recruitment.

Sigma Alpha Chi is a scholastic sorority whose motto is "Knowledge once gained casts a light beyond its immediate boundaries." Members are chosen from those students maintaining a cumulative quality average of 2.2 at the end of the first semester of their junior year, who have demonstrated leadership in at least two school activities and who are of good moral character. The aim of SAC is to promote interest in higher scholastic achievement, to encourage cultural and educational extracurricular activity, to maintain high standards of service and moral character in our profession and to incite in each member the desire to render optimum service to those in her care. Active members have the privilege of unlimited one o'clock lates. SAC's projects this year included recruiting high school students to Charity Hospital School of Nursing.

C CLUB RENDERS SERVICE

"C" Club is a honorary organization established for the purpose of recognizing potential campus leaders and planning activities for their further development. The purpose of "C" Club is to advance school spirit through various activities. This year "C" Club circulated a student-faculty telephone directory, sponsored a Christmas party for under-privileged children, conducted tours of the hospital and nursing school for high school groups, and lectured to several Girl Scout groups.

Santa came early for the childrens Christmas party.

LIBRARY CLUB ON THE GO

The Library Club is a small but dynamic organization whose aims are to render service to the school and to provide stimulating activities for its members. Members provide assistance to the librarians whenever necessary. Periodic book sales are the main money-making projects of the organization. Club members can also participate in cultural activities, picnics, Mississippi boat rides, and guided tours through the Vieux Carre. Through the Club, each student is offered something in the way of both service and fun.

CSO MEMBERS LEARN THROUGH GROUP DISCUSSIONS

The object of Catholic Student Organization is to form a union of all Catholic Students to provide education, relaxation, and entertainment for its members, and to serve others. The club has sponsored guest speakers on various topics of current interests and held group discussions at many of its meetings. One activity the club promotes is singing at monthly hootennany masses held in the Sisters' Chapel with coffee and doughnuts afterwards. The members also assist Father in daily communion rounds in the hospital and teach catechism to patients on Pediatrics wards.

The Baptist Student Union is an organization for students of all faiths. It provides opportunities to study topics of general interest to all and to work toward the goal of Christian fellowship. The first is accomplished by offering a large variety of guest speakers and periodic discussion groups. Provocative films are shown at various times which produce stimulating discussions. In addition to meeting with other schools in the state for many occasions, parties, banquets, picnics, and weekly meetings are held throughout the school year. In short, BSU affords each student the opportunity to work and grow as a Christian.

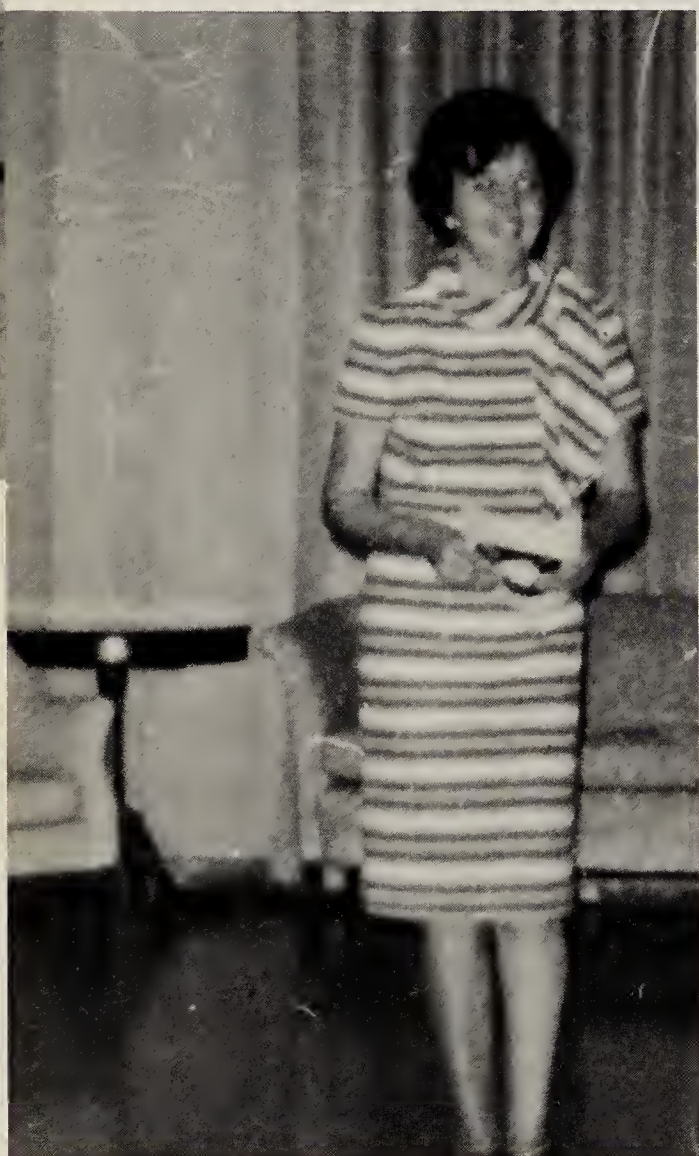

Refreshments after slides of Jamaica from a summer missionary were welcomed, as always.

Choral Club has been in existence at Charity since 1925. Under the direction of Mrs. Joanne Boylan, the members entertain students, faculty, and guests at meetings and programs throughout the school year. The group is accompanied by Doug Boylan at the piano.

According to the members, weekly practice is more of a form of entertainment than work. Each girl is able to learn more about the art and beauty of music, in addition to enjoying such a worthwhile extracurricular activity.

Choral Club members entertain students, faculty, and guests at their annual Christmas program with selections from Handel's "Messiah."

The Annual Staff, composed of an advisor, editor, and staff assistants plan and work on each edition of CAPS AND CAPES. Carmen cries, "Where have all my workers gone?"

Mary Miller and Marty Watson put their heads together and worked on their favorite task--cropping pictures!

Each picture, page, and section must receive individual attention and must be checked and re-checked before shipment to the publishing company. The end product of long hours of teamwork is the 1967-1968 CAPS AND CAPES, given to students in June. The knowledge that each student is able to preserve the memories of that school year in pictures is probably the best analgesic for the headaches that began in Room 205.

Another Saturday afternoon in Mrs. Smart's office--the annual staff never quits!

FEATURES

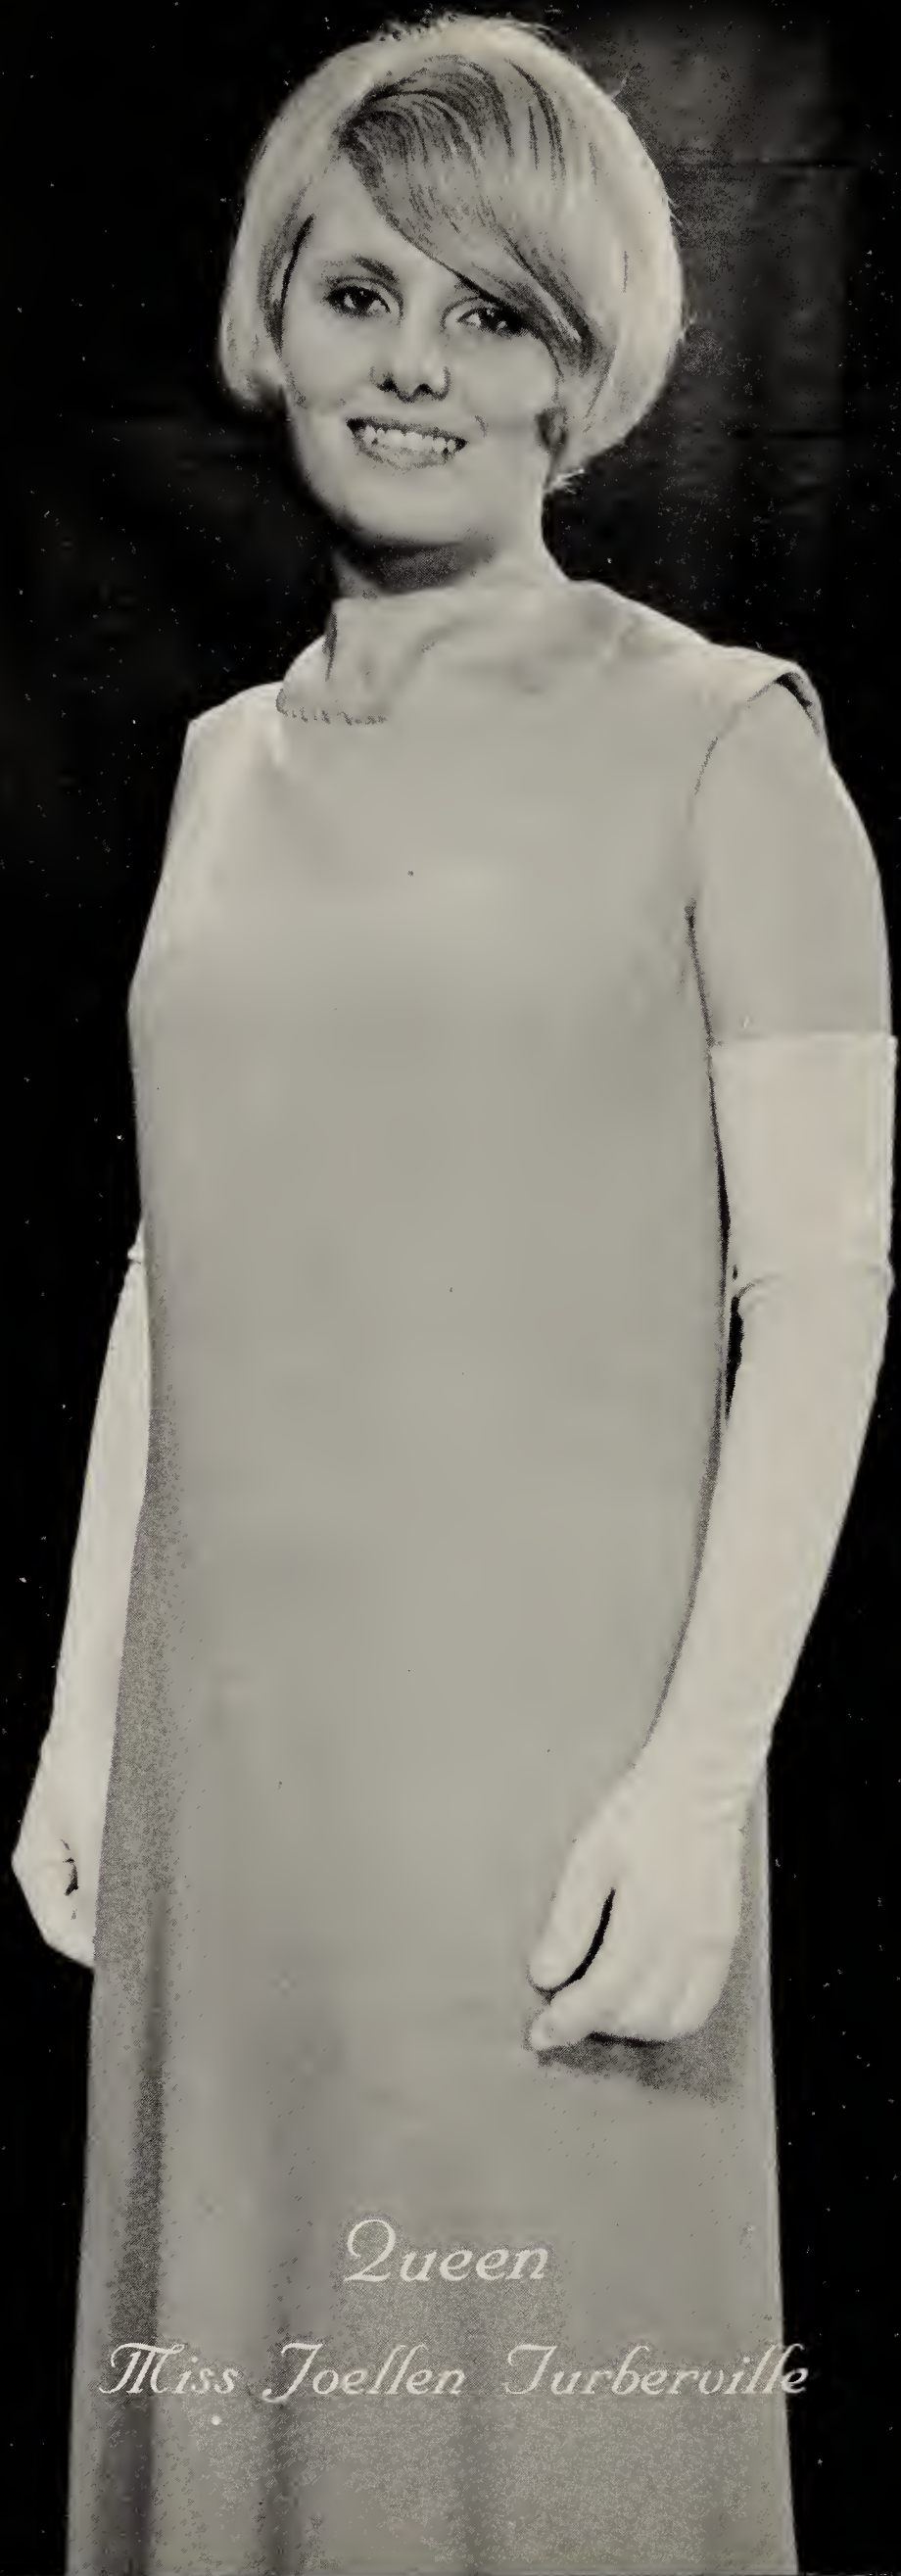

Annual recognition of students for accomplishment and beauty is made by student vote.

One of the privileges of the Senior Class is to have some of its members chosen as favorites. The nominations are made by the senior class, but the winners in each category are chosen by popular vote of the student body. These girls reflect the high ideals to which all students are encouraged to aspire. Congratulations to those girls, who in the minds of their fellow students, have made this impression.

Each year, fifteen girls are chosen by their classmates as nominees for the Beauty Court which is presented at the Winter Formal. This year the New Orleans Saints' football team honored us by serving as judges for the selection of the Queen and her Court.

ACTIVITIES

Activities held throughout the year mean many things to each student. The pride of a black band, the joy of winning Stunt Night, and the beauty of the Winter Formal are a few of many examples. The Christmas party and Big sister-Little sister party help bring all of us a little bit closer together.

NEW STUDENTS MINGLE AT FRESHMAN MIXER

In keeping with tradition, the annual Freshman mixer was held to provide the class of 1970 with an opportunity to become acquainted with prospects New Orleans universities have to offer.

BIG SISTERS AND LITTLE SISTERS GET ACQUAINTED

In September, the juniors and seniors welcomed their little sisters with entertainment and refreshments at the traditional Big Sister-Little Sister Party. To show their appreciation of the help and warm welcome extended by the upper-classmen, the freshmen entertained their big sisters at the Little Sister-Big Sister party in November.

The United States Army exhibit unit presented a star spangled pageant through which we were shown the various transitions in styles of dress through the years, from the pilgrims to the present day uniform of the Women's Army Corps.

Students watch with interest as the uniforms are modeled.

Sgt. O'Rourke acted as narrator for the pageant.

STUDENT BODY MEETINGS OFFER VARIETY OF ACTIVITIES

At the monthly student body meetings all students assemble to discuss pertinent student affairs. Various entertaining programs are planned for the meetings.

Mr. A. G. VanDenburgh narrated slides of his many trips to Egypt. He is shown here with Irma Cavalier Student Body President.

The roaring 20's comes to Charity via the Choral Club Flappers.

Diane Berry, Mary Ann Porche, and Leslie Dupont were three of the students who were recognized for having performed outstandingly in a specific instance or continuously in an area of nursing experience.

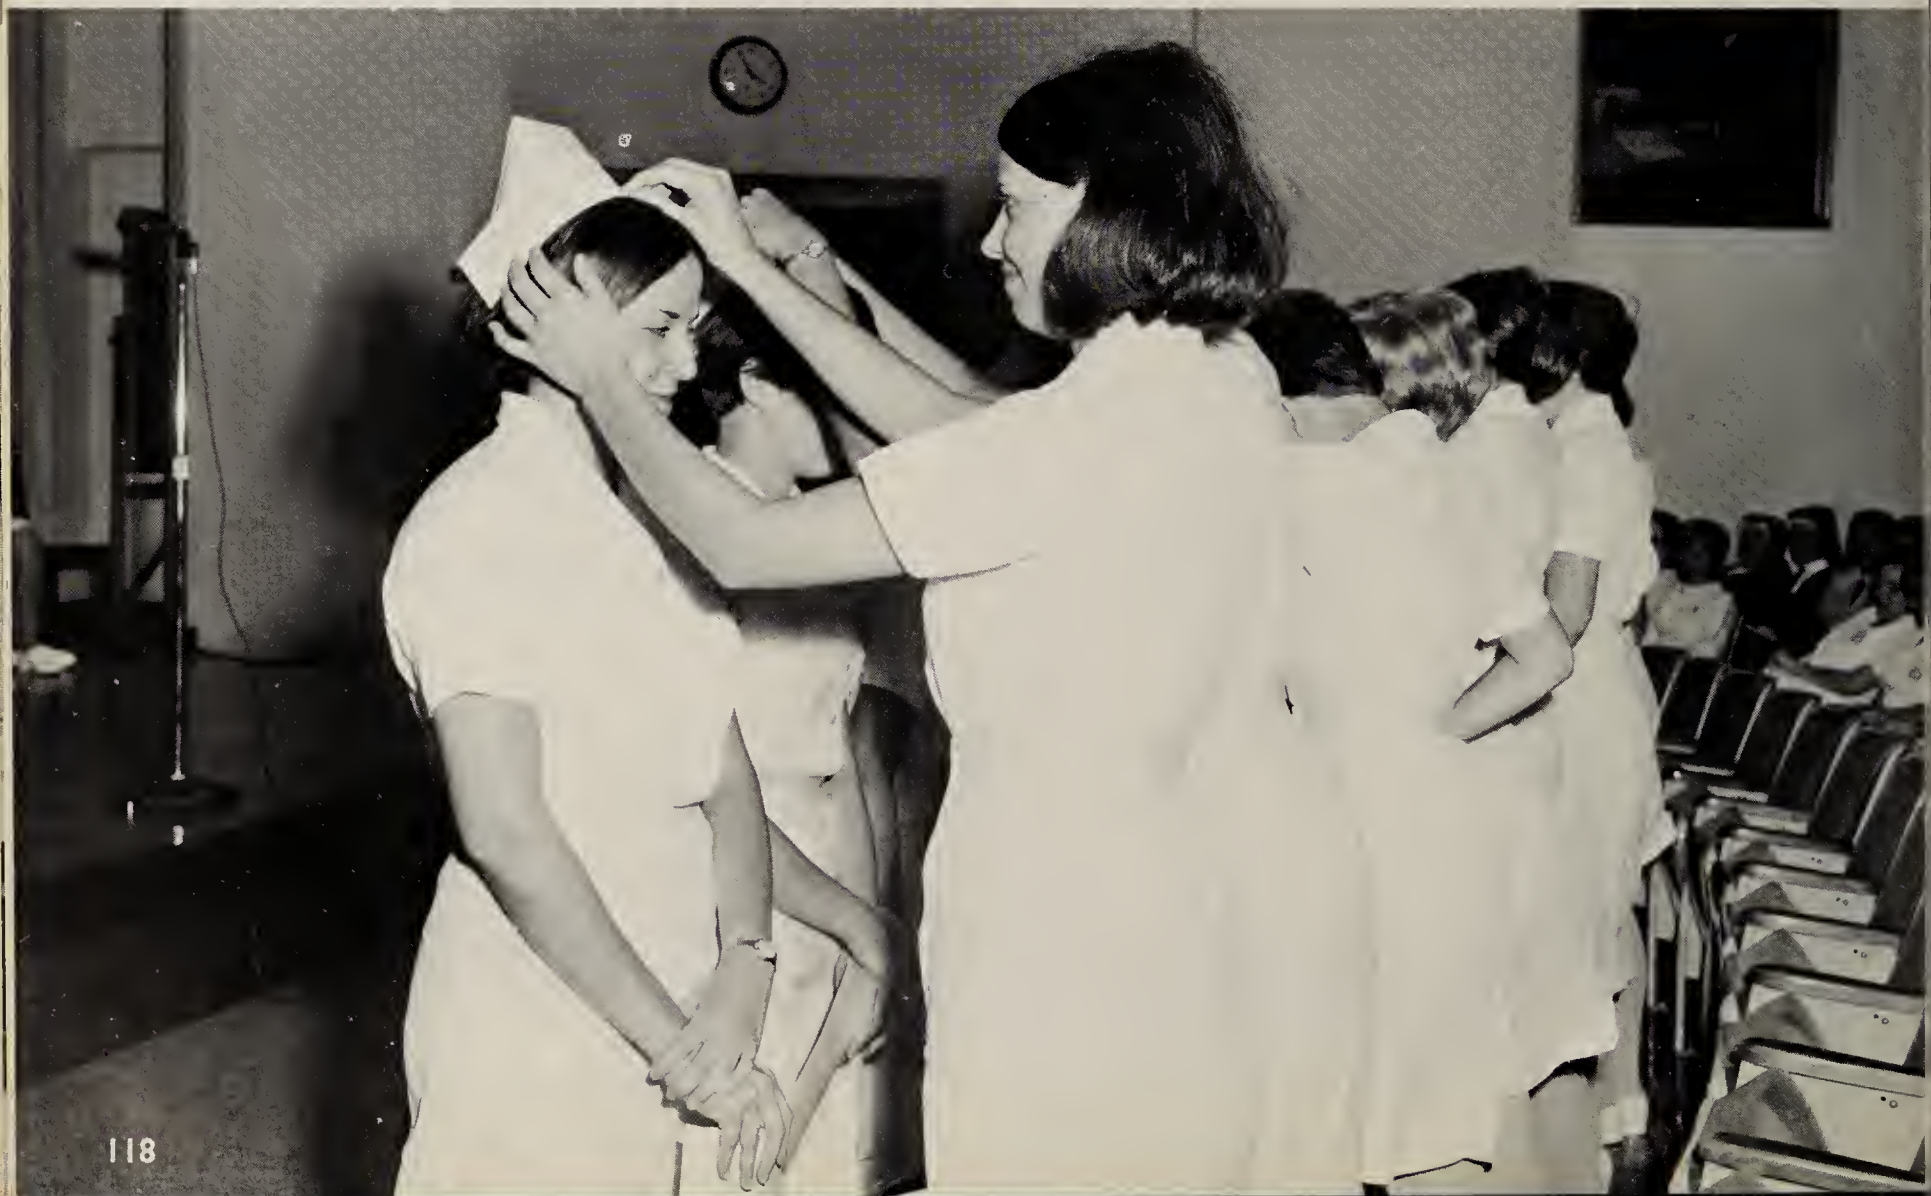

At the beginning of each school year, the first convocation is held for the sole purpose of distributing black bands to the Seniors and capping the new Juniors. The custom in recent years has been for each Senior to place the Charity cap on her "Little Sisters" head. The class then recites the Florence Nightingale Pledge. Next the Seniors are called out individually, while Sister Mercedes and Miss Gloria Gernhauser present the white cap with the long-awaited black band. When the last girl has received her cap, Seniors place the "halos" on their heads--the mark of a Senior.

The guest speaker this year was Sister Adrian, Director of Nursing Service at Charity Hospital, who spoke to the group of Seniors, Juniors, new Freshmen, faculty, and guests about the future of nursing at Charity Hospital.

Convocation was not only exciting for the Juniors and Seniors, but also inspiring for the new Freshman class. In addition, the event instilled a sense of enthusiasm for the upcoming year.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES INSTILL YULETIDE SPIRIT

One of the happiest, most celebrated seasons at CHSN was that of Christmas. Decorations were arranged throughout the school and everyone was busy preparing for the holiday. Christmas parties began with the C Club party for approximately 75 underprivileged children. On Monday before the holidays, students gathered in the lounge to trim the ten foot tree. The next night 80 girls spread the yuletide spirit to Charity patients by Caroling in the hospital. The season was climaxed with the Choral Club's presentation, "So This Is Christmas," followed by the student body party in the Constitution Room at City Hall.

BEAUTY COURT ANNOUNCED AT WINTER FORMAL

A blend of the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Charles Hotel and the music of Paul and the Milestones provided a perfect atmosphere for a night of dancing.

Freshmen "take a breather" to relax and socialize between dances.

The faculty members attending the Winter Formal look on with approval as the Queen and her Court are announced.

Mr. Lawrence Smart crowns Joellen Turberville Queen of the 1968 Annual Winter Formal and presents her honor maid, Linda Zerangue.

The Super Extremes - Jane Jacobs, Karen Parr, Carol Terracina (not pictured) - sang and danced in the Senior skit, which merited first place.

Poised ballerinas, better known as Carmen Alphonso and Susan Aucoin, dance to "The Dance of The Sugar-plum Fairies".

STUNT NIGHT DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Charlie Brown (Joyce Molaison) complains to Lucy (Betty Falgout) about the "third place curse" of the Senior class. But Lucy is optimistic - when potential is there, all you need is "High Hopes." You were right, Lucy!

Bobbie Bonner, the "Conduckter", directs the Senior class orchestra.

The annual event which usually merits the most complaints is Stunt Night. But the gripes soon become statements of enjoyment after completion and presentation of the skits.

Each class plans and presents a 20 minute skit based on the theme they have selected. The skits are judged on organization, time limit, participation, originality, and creativity. First, second, and third place winners are selected by a panel of five unbiased judges.

For the first time in recent years, the faculty entertained the students and guests while the judges tallied votes for the selection of the winners.

"A Tour Through the Wax Museum" was the theme of the skit that captured second place for the Freshman class. This typical student might have changed her mind about pranks, had she known that the statues were to come to life.

The Class of 1969 presented a skit which contrasted nursing in 1948 to nursing in 1968. The two costumes shown here depict just one part of the contrast.

Instructors posed as students for their skit and the results were hilarious. Miss Spratt is complaining about 7 A.M. classes--we couldn't agree with her more!

For their efforts, the faculty received a big round of applause and the booby prize. How do you feel about this, Miss Baldwin?

... AND OUR TALENTED FACULTY PARTICIPATED!

Refreshments were served to students, faculty, and guests in the lounge following Stunt Night.
